Five new suits for the superior court, returnable in November were filed on Thursday at the office of the clerk here. They were the following:

Foreclosure Mechanic's Lien.
Foreclosure of mechanic's lien and $1,000 damages are asked by Levi Q. Raymond of New London in a superior court suit brought against Viola E. Baker of Boston and others. The defendant is the owner of a lot in New London on Mott avenue upon which the plaintiff began on April 1, 1913 to erect a house for the defendant as well as furnishing the materials. He claims that he was engaged for this service by D. E. McEachern, alias John E. McEachern, who is now in prison for a crime committed in 1913, and that Viola Baker was to pay for the material and the plaintiff's services upon completion. The plaintiff's services in connection with the erection of the house were finished on Aug. 1, 1913, when the sum of $534.96 was claimed due and a mechanic's lien was recorded for that amount on Sept. 23. On July 28, 1913, Viola E. A. Baker mortgaged the house and lot for $1,000 to the Savings Bank of New London which was made defendant in this suit. This suit is also D. E. McEachern, the Boston contractor and agent who on Oct. 3, 1913, filed a mechanic's lien for $2,250.40.

To Establish Right of Way.
